Shipmates, some time ago my wife Carol, whom I love dearly, received an offensive and insulting phone call from some lame brain wanker who alleged he was from WA. Apparently I posted an angry, knee jerk reply somewhere on the internet and referred to the low life as 'Some wanker from the West' for which I don't apologise. What I will apologise for, and most humbly is the off chance that I may have offended the other members of that great State, Western Australia in the process. In no way was that the intention, if anyone from WA feels in anyway slighted, please cease and desist immediately, you were never the object of my ire.

As for the wanker who treated my wife to a less than acceptable level of respect, get a life. Regards. Irish.

Irish, no need to apologise .

Sounds like the lame brain wanker that made the insulting phone call to your wife, if from WA is indeed 'some wanker from the West'.

I am sure we others in the Golden West would not construe that you meant all of us are wankers. Just this low life [plus probably a few hundred others].

Gudday Bodgie - I appreciate Membership is dear to the heart but don't think this is the forum to ask people if they are or aren't FESR Members - it is not a prerequisite to use and enjoy these pages - Thanks Ross

Ross I am sure that Dennis meant no malice by asking Mick if he was a member of the great FESR organization. Dennis is a great secretary and only has the organization at heart. It's no different to asking someone to join an organization. I am a long serving member of Lions International and at times have asked some mates and others why they havent joined our organization. They use the Lions websites

Bodgie, no problems with you asking. No I am not a member of FESR. I am not a member of any group/association these days. I was a founding Member of the Australian Computer Society in the NT, but that has lapsed. I was also toying with joining the Western Force Rugby Club, the Hawthorn AFL Club etc etc etc. But, alas, I haven't joined any.

I will be joining the HMAS Stuart Association when it gets off the ground [or is it the Type 12 Association?]. Apart from Stuart, I will not be taking out membership in any other group. I have a beer occassionally at the RSL in Collie and Bunbury, but I am not a member there either, and don't plan on joining..

I must admit, my time in the RAN, Jan67 to Dec73 was the best years of my life, but I can't remember where I was, and when.

I too apologise for responding to Irish's apology. I now realize that Irish was talking to 'Members' in WA. As I am not a Member, I should learn to keep my gob shut.

Irish said " the off chance that I may have offended the other members of that great State, Western Australia "

:) :) Bodgie

A beer [smiley=beer.gif] or two for Christmas would be great.
Better make that THREE.
Happy birthday mate [smiley=beer.gif] [smiley=beer.gif]
